SUPPORT YOUR MILITARY COMMUNITY

GREETINGS FROM MALMSTROM AFB

Thank you for considering a partnership with the 341st Force Support Squadron through the Air Force Commercial Sponsorship & Advertising Program. This booklet gives some examples of the variety of opportunities available to help you reach your military market. Malmstrom AFB operates the only Morale, Welfare and Recreation Program in the state of Montana, and all of our events, programs and activities are open to all branches of active duty military, DoD civilian employees, military retirees and their families.

Through sponsorship you'll find focused avenues to showcase your business to an economically stable and premier audience. Our events are tailored to improve the quality of life for our brave men and women who sacrifice so much on a daily basis.

While you'll find information on many specific sponsorship opportunities, the information in this booklet is not all inclusive. Sponsorships can be customized based on your organizational needs to help you achieve success.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

Malmstrom's Child and Youth Program (CYP) provides activities in a nurturing, stimulating environment to meet the physical, social, emotional and intellectual needs of hundreds of military children through core development areas: Character and Leadership, Education and Career, Health and Life Skills and the Arts. Focused on the whole-child approach, CYP acknowledges that all children learn through active, hands-on involvement, peers and caring adults. Likewise, the program respects and supports the ideals, cultures and values of families in their tasks of nurturing their children. Activities like day camps, art expositions, Little League and other sports, and family-focused special events keep CYP on their toes and contribute to the success of military and civilian personnel's balancing the competing demands of mission accomplishment and family life. The Child Development and Youth Centers serve more than 250 children a day on a consistent basis, and special events can bring 500 additional people in the doors every month.

OUTDOOR RECREATION

The Outdoor Recreation Program (ODR) is a multi-program facility offering an outdoor pool, recreational trips, classes, campground facilities and base parks. With 1,000 monthly visitors year round, ODR is one of our busiest programs and dedicated to meeting the adventure needs of Malmstrom community by encouraging them to “get up and get out!” When they reach their station at Malmstrom, the mobile military and their families are adventure bound across Montana, with opportunities to experience all of the hot spots and secret treasures year round. Activities range from whitewater rafting the Alberton Gorge and Flathead River, backpacking the Bob Marshall Wilderness and skydiving at the Mission Mountains in summer, to dog sledding and ice fishing at Big Fork, snowmobiling Yellowstone and skiing Whitefish Mountain Resort in the winter. ODR’s services are available to all active duty, DoD civilians, guard/reserves, retirees and dependents. Special rates on many adventures apply for families affected by deployed service members, as well as for single Airmen.

FITNESS & SPORTS

Malmstrom's Fitness Center is the premier health and wellness facility on the base, providing innovative and collaborative programs directed toward the welfare of the military community. Special events and incentive programs are provided to encourage the promotion of physical fitness, as well as provide camaraderie and friendly competition, thereby strengthening morale. Sponsorship enhances these programs and creates a reward system for military personnel who are dedicated to improving their overall fitness.

The Fitness Center sees the highest foot traffic of all Malmstrom's FSS facilities, with more than 15,000 visitors monthly and is available to all branches of active duty, DoD civilians, retirees and their families.

The Arden G. Hill Memorial Library serves as a community hub providing information, access and recreation to support the mission, education and morale of military personnel and their families. About 2,500 patrons a month engage in programs to support academic enrichment, homeschooling, special needs families and child-care providers. Technical and professional materials in print and electronic forms are available to support base offices and recreational materials such as DVDs are distributed among the Missile Alert Facilities (MAFs). Special event programs, such as preschool story time, reading incentive programs, a Noon Year's Eve Party, Teen Tech Week and STEM contests and activities, are geared toward the youth population.

The library strives to be a friendly, comfortable place to meet friends, read a good book, learn something new, connect to the world or just hang out.

BOWLING

Ace's High Bowling and Entertainment Center aims to provide first-class recreational opportunities to the base population. About 1,600 customers a month enjoy so many programs offered here. Equipped with all of the latest technology in bowling and serving an array of home-style meals, Ace's High is undoubtedly a venue of choice, for single airmen and families alike. In addition to providing food and recreation, the center hosts birthday parties, baby showers, Commander's Calls and dignitary luncheons.

This affordable and family-friendly option is an excellent avenue for marketing that is right up the customer's alley!

Malmstrom's Arts & Crafts Skills Development Center is military personnel's hot spot for practical and recreational classes and seminars. Programs continue to expand, and foot traffic increases every month as these new programs are offered. Experienced mechanics teach basic car care skills to the military personnel. From oil and brake changes to welding and painting, the Auto Hobby Shop helps our Airmen learn new skills and develop new hobbies they can use anywhere. More than 400 people a month participate in a diverse schedule of classes, seminars and activities on painting, frame building, ceramics, stained glass and much more, helping them to develop new interests and hone existing skills. Your business's support helps to build these programs and offer them to our Airmen for little or no expense to them
